WILSON SEEKS

CONTROL OVER

WIRE SYSTEM

SIMILAR TO THAT OF ROADS IS

PLAN OF EXECUTIVE AND

HIS OFFICIAL ADVISERS.

Postmaster General Burleson Will Be

Named Director General of Communications—Nation Would Guard Its Military Secrets.

Washington.—President Wilson asked Congress to give him authority to take over the control of all the telegraph, telephone, cable and radio systems in the United States. The plan of control will be the same as that followed in the operation of the railroads.

Postmaster General Burleson will be

nications, and all the business of the wire companies will be operated as a part of the postal system. A speedy compliance with the President's request by the Congress is anticipated.

In both Houses sentiment generally is in favor of prompt action on the resolution to authorize Federal control, even to the extent of abandoning plans for the thirty-day recess, if necessary.

The House Committee on Interstate Commerce, to whom the President addressed his communication urging the grant of power, got down to business as soon as the President's letter was received.

The committee met in executive session to go over the terms of the letter and to consider letters from Postmaster Burleson, Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels, all of whom supported the President in his view that the telegraph and telephone lines should be taken over as a military record-breaking crowd.

Atwood.—B. R. Galey of this place while painting the tower of the Louisville & Nashville bridge at Clarke-ville fell and was drowned in the Cumberland river.

Paris.—The Louisville & Nashville railroad shops at this place began the use of women as engine wipers. This was rendered necessary by the shortage of male help.

Fayetteville.—Capt. W. A. Cashion, son of Mrs. W. R. Cashion, is now stationed at Camp Fremont, Palo Alto,

Cal. Capt. Cashion received his training at Fort Oglethorpe.

Nashville.—Relatives here have received information of the drowning of Ernest P. Gilliam near Vancouver, Wash., where he was working as a member of the spruce production division, aviation section, of the United States signal corps.

Nashville.—Officials of the Bon Air iron and coal corporation, of which

James A. Oldfield of Chicago is president, met here. The party visited the Bon Air properties, where they will select a site for a semi-solvent coke by-product plant, which will be offered to the government.

Monteagle.—The thirty-sixth annual session of the Monteagle Assembly began this week. Started as a big Sunday school camp by Dr. Warren, of Murfreesboro and his friends, thirty-six years ago, it is today one of the biggest and most prosperous summer resorts in the south.

Jackson.—Twenty-eight airplanes from Park Field, Millington, arrived in Jackson and landed at Mason Field. A number of the machines flew over the city proper in the afternoon at low altitudes, affording the residents their first good view of an airplane in action.

Columbia.—Miss Alberta McFall,

Bessemer, Ala., was almost instantly killed when she was thrown from an automobile in an accident near Franklin. Miss McFall, who is a niece of Assistant Postmaster W. S. McFall, of this city, was spending the week end with Columbia friends.

Chattanooga.—Adolph Matthis, state organizer of retail merchants for the sale of war savings stamps, has passed along to his representatives the following announcement to county chairmen from State Director Preston:

"Notify all retail merchants in your county that special merchants' drive for the sale of war savings stamps and thrift stamps takes place July 18.

Every merchant is expected to take war savings stamps to the amount of his sales for that day up to $1,000."

Knoxville.—Herbert F. Wells, aged 17 years, of this place, was on board the transport Covington, which was submerged and sunk last week. Young Wells was first shellman of the forward gun on the Covington, an important post which he had held for several months. He was on his sixth trip across the Atlantic, having been on duty on this vessel since it went into the transport service for conveying American soldiers to France.

Chattanooga.—Peter Czan, interned enemy alien at Fort Oglethorpe, is dying at the base hospital as a result of an attempt to escape, a guard having fired a load of buckshot into the fleeing man's back. Czan was being taken across an open space outside the stockade, where he had been assigned some duty, when he made a break for liberty. He refused to heed the command of the guard to halt and a shot was fired in the air. This failing to stop Czan, the guard took aim and brought the prisoner down.

Memphis.—W. E. McElveen, special agent in charge, representing the government, appeared in police court and notified Judge L. T. Fitzhugh that government officials had received instructions to stamp out vice in Memphis and Shelby county, and unless they secured the co-operation of the local authorities the government was prepared to take such steps as would bring about the desired result. Judge Fitzhugh assured him that he would co-operate in every way and that he would hereafter assess the maximum fine on all persons brought before him and convicted for bootlegging or disorderly conduct.

Memphis.—An important war conference, to include all officials of the selective service in West Tennessee, was held in Memphis this week. Major Grant T. Trent, of the provost marshal general's office, and Major Rutledge Smith, executive officer for Tennessee, were present to discuss war organization.

Trezevant.—Fire that broke out in the business section of the little town of Yuma, this county, almost wiped out the business block in which it originated.

STEPS TO END
LABOR TROUBLES

Members of National Board Assigned to Work in Various Parts of the Country

ALL STRIKES TO BE SETTLED

National Administration Is Uneasy Over Friction in Several States—Work of Winning the War Hampered by Industrial Disputes That Can Be Avoided.

The national war labor board has assigned its various members to labor controversies in different parts of the country, among them the following: Strike of coopers in Chicago against the Wooden Tank Manufacturers' association, which is now being investigated by a board examiner, assigned for adjustment to W. H. Vandervoort and Victor A. Olander, as a special section of the board.

Wage increase demands of employees of the Corn Products company of Granite City, Ill., which the company has refused, assigned for investigation and adjustment to members Michael and Olander, the war labor board having assumed jurisdiction in the dispute at the request of the food administration.

Controversy between the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company and its employees at Hammond, Ind., assigned to a special examiner to inquire into the facts and report.

In addition to these cases the board decided that the controversy between machinists and the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery company was a matter demanding attention, inasmuch as it involves the proclamation to govern industrial relations recently promulgated by Governor Burnquist of Minnesota.

"It is contended by critics of that proclamation," the board said, "that it does not conform to the policies and principles of the national war labor board approved by the president as a basis upon which industrial disputes shall be settled during the war."

President Favors Short Workday.

Congress eliminated a legislative rider requiring government clerks to work eight hours a day instead of seven from the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill after President Wilson had vetoed the measure because of the provision. Salary increases for the clerks of $120 a year to meet the increased cost of living were left unchanged.

The president took the position that, having asked private employers to make no change in working conditions unfavorable to labor during the war, he could not assent to a bill under which the government itself would make such a change.

Gompers Gets New Position.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and several labor leaders were elected members of the executive committee of the League to Enforce Peace. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, former minister to Holland, also was elected to membership on the committee. William H. Taft, president of the league, presided. It was pointed out that the American Federation of Labor and the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy had endorsed the movement to form a league of nations after the war.

Would Extend Women's Rights.

A resolution was adopted by the British labor party asking that women be made eligible to election to parliament and other public bodies. Another resolution (proposed by the socialists) called upon the government to provide work at union wage or else give full maintenance to unemployed and dependents. Still another resolution was passed demanding that the government find work for women who are replaced by men after the war and see that they get equal pay.

Shipworkers Won Bet.

When the 8,800-ton cargo vessel Nalwa left the ways of the Baltimore Dry Dock and Shipbuilding company on the fourth of July, Holden A. Evans, president of the company, was out of pocket $2,000. That is the amount of a wager Mr. Evans made with his workmen that they could not have the ship in the water before July 25. He bet them 2 to 1 and the men quickly put up $1,000 against it. The Nalwa is the first ship launched from the new yard. She was built for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

Express Confidence in Hoover.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, representing 77,000 men, has formally expressed its confidence in the United States food administration. In annual convention the grand international division of the brotherhood adopted the following resolution: "Resolved, That this body go on record as supporting Mr. Herbert Hoover in every act, in every way, he has used in regard to food conservation."

Asks Large Sum for Homes.

One hundred million dollars more for housing war workers in industrial centers in addition to the $60,000,000 already appropriated for shipyard workers, has been asked of congress by Housing Commissioner Eldridge.
